Who can join?

Anyone working in the construction industry including architects, engineers, surveyors, interior designers, tradespeople, builders, and organisations associated with construction (such as housing associations), students, local authorities, and educational establishments.

We publish details of our UK and Ireland based members on our online Register of Construction Professionals. However, please note: To be published on our website and display our logo on your website or stationery, we require that at least one member of staff at your organisation has attended a minimum of 2 hours of qualifying training run by The Green Register.

If your organisation does not yet meet these criteria, we are still very happy to welcome you as a member of The Green Register so that you can enjoy the other benefits of membership straightaway. These include a members' discount on training and your subscription to Passive House + magazine.

By joining you can take advantage of the members discounted fees when booking your qualifying training (if applicable).

The Small Print

1. Membership fees: Membership fees are paid annually and non-refundable. The annual membership fee is in addition to any course fees.
2. Renewal: When renewal is due, TGR will issue a renewal invite. The membership renewal fee must be paid within 30 days of the renewal date to ensure continuation of your Membership. All benefits associated with Membership including website entry and use of the TGR logo will cease after the 30-day period if the fee is not received.
3. Qualifying Training: Some membership benefits are conditional on at least one member of staff of the member organisation having completed qualifying training. Qualifying training includes any of our paid training lasting two hours or more. Futureproof Essentials online training course and tailored in-house CPD sessions also fall into this category. Twilight talks are not included.
4. TGR logo/brand: Member organisations whose staff have completed the qualifying training are entitled to use the TGR logo when advertising their TGR membership. The logo and associated branding may not be use on other promotional material or without reference to your organisation's membership. Use of the TGR brand following cessation of Membership is prohibited.
5. TGR membership certificates: TGR membership certificates are issued to member organisations when at least one member of staff has completed the qualifying training.
6. Publication on our online Register of Sustainable Construction Professionals: The register is located on the TGR website. It is available to the public free of charge; by becoming a member of TGR you consent to the contact details you provide for your organisation being published on the site unless you have indicated otherwise. However, inclusion on the Register is conditional on completion by at least one member of staff of the member organisation having completed qualifying training as described above. This requirement must be complied with at all times during Membership. If the trained staff member(s) leaves the employment of the organisation for any reason a replacement staff member must attend the next practicable qualifying training course(s).
7. Membership for organisations: The membership fee for an organisation covers membership for one office and the fee is calculated according to the number of staff at each office.
8. Collection, storage and use of your personal data to administer your membership: To process your membership application and administer the membership benefits requested, we require a named main contact at your organisation. We collect and store the name, email address, address and telephone number of the person completing our membership application form. The information supplied is used to create a user account on our website to allow you to login at a future date to access membership benefits and update the information we hold about you and the member organisation. We will also add you to our mailing list in order to keep you informed about your membership benefits, including details of our forthcoming training events and other news. We may occasionally also contact you by phone. You can update your communication preferences at any time through logging in to our website, using the link in our mailing footer or contacting us by email: mail@greenregister.org.uk If you are no longer the correct named main contact for your organisation, we would be grateful if you could let us know.
